U. S. Troops Reach Rheims

German Divisions Evacuate Rouen

S.H.A.E.F., Aug. 30.

United States troops have reached Rheims and crossed the river Vesle and have advanced several miles east of the city. Armoured units have reached a point on the Aisne, ten miles north of Rheims.

To-day's German Communique says that Rouen has been evacuated.

To-day's Mediterranean Communique reported that Montelimar has been captured. Reuter adds that Montelimar is in the Rhone valley, eighteen miles south of Lyons.

To-day's German 'Communique' said: "After strong enemy attacks repeated seven times and launched from the Seine bridgeheads north-west of Paris had been held in grim fighting, German divisions retreated to new positions to the north-east according to plan. The town of Rouen was given up after port installations and other objectives of military importance had been destroyed." The 'Communique' said that between Paris and Rheims, strong American forces attacking to north were stemmed in bitter fighting. Yard fighting is going on in the region of Chalons sur Marne.

To-day SHAEF 'Communique said: "Allied forces continuing their sweep beyond Paris have crossed the Aisne and Marne rivers in the Upper Marne Valley. Mopping up is in progress in Vitry Le Francois, and our troops have reached Marson and Lepine. Other units are less than one mile south of Chalons on the west side of the river. Chateau Theirry on the Marne has been occupied, and our armoured units have moved north to take Soissons and established a bridgehead across the Aisne at Pont Arcy, fourteen miles to the East.

NAZI LOSSES IN RHONE VALLEY

The text of to-day's 'Communique' from the Allied Headquarters in the Mediterranean was: "American troops of the Seventh Army inflicted heavy losses on the enemy forces in the Rhone Valley north of Montelimar where fighting continues. This town has now been occupied along with Valreas, Grane and Allex, and fighting is now in progress to the north where withdrawing enemy troops have been trying to cross the Drome river. In two days, approximately 800 loaded motor trucks and two batteries of 88 millimetre guns have been captured in this area, and the regional commander made a prisoner. West of the Rhone forward elements of a French force have reached Bagnols. On the eastern flank, American troops are consolidating their positions on the west bank of the Var river. Additional prisoners taken in the Marseilles-Toulon and the Rhone Valley have increased the total to 45,000

GLOOM IN GERMANY DEEPENS

LONDON, August 25—One of the things troubling the average German most is the failure of Hitler to visit the harassed German troops on the Western Front, writes a "Liverpool Post" correspondent.

There is no lack of Hitlerian injunction to them to die. But he is not there. This circumstance has deepened the gloom in Germany.

Observers say that over the great mass of people, aware as they are of the many terrible deeds done in their name, there lies a pall of benumbed fatalism. They know now that Hitler's "Fortress of Europe" with himself in the role of Lord of the Continent was nothing but a fiction. The only remaining reality to them is the Fortress of Germany.

Knowing this, Nazi propaganda is doing everything it can to boost the elementary instinct for self-preservation but that instinct can be destroyed by fatalism.

'FUTURE OF MANKIND BELONGS TO ITS MONGRELS'

All Statesmen Must Abjure Endogamy, Says Shaw

"Chinese Laundrymen And Irish "Colyeens" Produce Excellent Strain Of Children"

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT)
LONDON, Aug. 30.

There will be much that will provoke discussion on Bernard Shaw's latest work "Everybody's Political What Is What", which will be out on September 3.

According to Shaw the book is "an attempt by a very ignorant old man to communicate to the people still more ignorant than himself such elementary social statistics as he has managed to pick up by study, by collision with living persons and by hard facts. This monumental work will be continued by those who can."

The book contains Shaw's reactions of a life-time towards political, social and economic affairs. Everywhere there is biting irony intermingled with savage satire and Irish wit.

FIRST MEETING WITH ANATOLE FRANCE

He nicely relates how he first met Anatole France. Anatole asked Shaw who he was. Shaw replied: "I am like you, a man of genius." Anatole retorted: "Ah! well! a whore has a right to call herself a pleasure merchant."

HIT AT PRIVATE BANKING

Commenting on social credit Shaw says: "As long as banking remains a private business rich people will enjoy enormous unearned incomes without even lifting their fingers to earn them. There will be crazy schemes in the air under one name or another. Every family will run after them just as they did after the South Sea Bubble."

Shaw further says that Britain made foreign trade a matter of life and death, and then stuck a ramrod into the machinery of foreign trade by engaging in world wars.

Shaw believes that England by scientific and collective farming, public control of foreign trade and export capital can not only feed but maintain herself to crack the doom of the continual warfare she is always waging somewhere or the other as far as finance is concerned.

WHY THEY ARE IN INDIA

Discussing the ethics of persecution Shaw writes: "We must then make up our mind for persecution upto no certain point as being necessary to the functioning of a Government. It is not hesitating when the country is advanced in civilisation and has to govern a less advanced one. Thus British Government ruthlessly persecutes 'Suttee, Thugee' and car of juggernaut in India and Voodoos in Africa and West Indies.

"Our liberal friends of India with their wits in Macaulay's history of the Seventeenth century sometimes talk as if our duty towards India is to cease all persecution and establish freedom of thought, speech, worship and education. There, in truth, persecution, are our only excuse for being in India at all. Probably we do not prosecute half enough either at home or abroad."

Shaw emphasizes that the future of mankind belongs to its mongrels and not to its handsome but brainless bourgeois. He says that Chinese laundrymen and Irish "Colyeens" are said to produce 'excellent strain of children. He also implies that all statesmen must abjure all forms of endogamy, admitting however that "this is not easy in our far-flung Commonwealth."

Shaw opines that only Japanese are endogamous. "They also are trying Hitlerian genetic experiment in the East, but I should bet on mongrels for long run if I were a sportsman."

BRITISH GOVT. WARNS GERMANS

Will Hold Them Responsible For Treatment Of Polish Army Against Rules Of War

S. AFRICA, GREATEST COAL EXPORTING COUNTRY TO-DAY

JOHANNESBURG, August 19: General Smuts addressing a Supplies Conference here today said the war had made South Africa about the greatest coal exporting country in the world.

To save shipping—always a bottleneck—the country had been switched over to coal production. It exported to the Allies and neutrals dependent on them 400,000 tons of coal monthly.

South Africa has been advised that during the war in the east, munitions and the effort required of South African would decrease very considerably.

But at the same time it was very likely that the ship repairs programme would be intensified and that more effort would be concentrated upon it.—Reuter.

IN NAME OF JUSTICE AND FAIR-PLAY INDIA MUST BE REPAID PROMPTLY

Shridharani On Sterling Balances Problem At Brettonwoods Conference

NEW YORK, Aug. 30: Mr. Kishanlal Shridharani, Indian Lecturer and Writer, residing in the U.S.A., says: "On the whole the Indian delegation to the Brettonwoods Monetary Conference managed to derive certain benefits for their country, although they had to overcome considerable political obstacles."

Writing in the "Voice of India" a monthly published by the National Committee for India's Freedom, he reviews the treatment accorded to its blocked balances problem. He calls for the immediate liberation of those balances saying that "The Indian people must be repaid and repaid promptly in the name of justice and fair-play." He says that this can be done by British payments in gold or by British exports of goods to India. But he qualifies that these goods must be "not of the type England finds convenient to dump on India but .... machinery and capital goods.

Mr. Shridharani, maintaining that Britain might not be able to supply such goods, asks for some amount of conversion of Sterling Balances into dollars at the rate of fifty million dollars annually.

He writes: "Great Britain's efforts to flout ordinary business ethics has become all the more flagrant when the real nature of her debt to India is grasped." He explains that this debt consists not only of the price of Indian goods sent to England but also the amount of her exports to such countries as Australia, Canada, Iran and China.

The writer strongly attacks the Keynes Plan for renegotiation of the Indo-British financial settlement. In connection with this he says that great apprehensions "beset the minds of Indians accustomed to suspecting the British Tories."

"COURAGEOUS" LEAD

Commenting on the "courageous" attitude of the Indian delegation, especially in view of all the difficulties they encountered, he says "Lord Keynes' moral loftiness sounded forced when he said 'When we can see our way into daylight, we shall take up without delay to settle honourably what was honourably and generously given.' What he forgot was that it was generously—given.

Mr. A. D. Shroff was right in asserting at the Conference that India's position was akin to that of 'a man with a million dollar balance in bank but not enough money to pay for taxifare.'

Finally Mr. Shridharani praises the handling of all these difficult matters by the Indian delegation. He specially commends the Viceroy for choosing such men as Sir Shanmukham Chetty, Mr. A. D. Shroff, Sir C. D. Deshmukh and Sir Jeremy Raisman. He says that the delegation "showed some unexpectedly pleasant composition and life."

Summing up, he outlines the victories and defeats of India in the Conference: Firstly, in the Fund India lost by not being on the Governing Board of Reorganisation but gained by giving her a possibility to clear in future rupees for dollars in the Fund's machinery.

Secondly, in the Bank India lost when France was given preference "due to political consideration" and thus secured a place on the Bank's Governing Board. India won by aiming at a possibility of acquiring universal purchasing power through the setting up of the Bank.

Thus although India lost out on two important points it made some gains at Brettonwoods. And it is to the interest of India as well as the world that she should march along with the democratic nations in a spirit of international co-operation."—Reuter.

B. K. Thakore Fellowship In Gujarati Literature

Prof. B. K. Thakore, a great thinker and man of letters of Gujarat, has completed seventy-four years on the 23rd October, 1943. Both in the field of education and literature, he has rendered yeoman's service. He has constantly and continuously cultivated the Gujarati language and literature cherishing the ideal that a Gujarat developed culturally and intellectually will prove a source of strength to India. His contribution in the building-up of the Sahitya Parishad is not a small one.

He has been a rebel in the realm of Gujarati literature and his successful experiment of "Prithivi Chhand" is a well-known example of this, being almost unique in the Indian literature. It is our good fortune that such a learned person with a gift of poetic vision is alive amongst us.

On this memorable occasion, various representative institutions of Gujarat arranged a series of functions to express their sense of gratitude and happiness. However, it is our feeling that the proper way to commemorate such a happy occasion is to establish a Fellowship in Gujarat Literature bearing Prof. Thakore's name in the Bombay University. The necessary funds required for such an Endowment should be found by Gujarat and Gujaratis.

We have confidence that our appeal for funds for such a deserving cause will meet with generous response from Gujarat. It is necessary to collect not less than Rs. 30,000. for the purpose. We request all persons interested in Gujarat and the Gujarati Literature to contribute generously and thus help us collect the funds required.

This Company has been formed to carry out the objects set out in detail in the Memorandum of Association (which is attached hereto and forms part hereof) and, in particular, to purchase and develop a large tract of agricultural land and to found colonies for settlers who desire to dwell in environs which combine modern amenities of urban life with the peace and health-giving conditions of rural life and to promote agriculture and agricultural produce.

The Company has been fortunate in securing a plot of land in one block situated within 66 miles from Calcutta measuring approximately 7,500 bighas or 2,500 acres and it will be developing the first large-scale undertaking in collective farming in India. The present conditions with regard to the nation's diet stress the importance of the undertaking in connection not only with "Grow more food" campaign but with the need for more nutritive and better balanced food for all for all times.

To carry out these objectives of more food and better food, the India Collective Farms, Ltd., proposes to develop, on scientific lines, (a) fishery, (b) paddy, (c) vegetables, (d) sugarcane, (e) fruits, (f) dairy, (g) poultry and (h) canning industry. There is also scope for timber growing and forest produce.

As the farm contains 1,000 bighas (or 330 acres) of Beels (Canal), the problem of irrigation does not present any difficulty.

This Farm has been appointed one of the five agencies to grow and supply vegetables to the Military. In respect of this contract, the conditions on which the Farm will supply the vegetables provide for priorities being available for tractors, trucks, artificial manure, imported seeds, etc., at controlled rates. The Company, therefore, starts with initial advantages of considerable importance.

The immediate development will, therefore be connected with vegetable cultivation so as to cater not only for the Military contract but also for civilian consumption for which demand during the last two years has been insistent.

On the basis that 2,000 bighas or 650 acres will be so prepared as to make vegetables supply available from this cold weather, the preparation on a conservative basis (i.e., on the assumption of sale-prices of vegetables being considerably less than those ruling now and in the last cold weather) should show a net profit of over Rs. 6 lakhs. It will, therefore, be not necessary to wait for a distribution of dividend until the Farm is fully developed as it is hoped it will be possible, out of the profits arising from the contract in hand and from the sales in the open market, to consider payment of dividend after making provision for taxes and for dividend equalization fund at rates more than the minimum dividends prescribed of 6 and 16 per cent tax-free on Preference and Ordinary shares respectively.

The prospects of peace-time are better as, with the all round development, the value of the property will appreciate and colonisation with development of agriculture will produce a satisfactory income.

The most important point to note is that the income of the Farm is not subject to Excess Profits Tax nor to Corporation Tax or Super-tax. The agricultural income tax, when it becomes payable, will be only -/2/6 annas in the rupee.

It may be added that, as the other aspects of farming are developed in addition to vegetables, the income of the Farm will be much greater.

In view of the present high prices of fish, milk, dairy products, paddy, fruits, poultry, eggs, etc., the Farm will, it may be noted, be starting its career in the most advantageous circumstances and under the most propitious conditions.

The Farm has been, in particular, fortunate in securing a Military contract at very beginning of its career; and, with the special priorities made available by this means, the Farm will place the utmost emphasis on mechanisation, which spells both efficiency and economy.

As illustrating the advantages of agriculture, it may be pointed out that the shares of the Midnapur Zemindaries which were quoting Rs. 90/- are now quoting about Rs. 180/-.

The land has been visited and inspected elaborately by the Director of Agriculture, Bengal, and officers of his department. The following is an extract from the report of the Agricultural Engineer to the Government of Bengal: "The soil in general is clayey loam and is retentive of moisture. Thus, Dattanagar Farm has all the potentialities to convert it into a first-class profitable Farm in Bengal."

The Director of Agriculture, Bengal said (in June, 1944) of this land:—

"I have visited your farm near Majdia on Monday, the 12th instant. There are large areas of high land and the soil seen from superficial examination, appears to be fairly rich one and capable of producing a good crop. It would seem to be quite suitable for English vegetables which are to be grown there this coming cold weather. There are big jheels and also a river, available both for fish and irrigation purposes, and the latter should prove valuable for raising all kinds of cold weather crops. Irrigation will also be available in the hot weather, and could be used with great advantages on Kharif crops.

Altogether, the area is well worth developing and, if careful cropping is followed, there is every chance of making it a success. There are also good possibilities of developing fish and poultry and also dairy cattle, there being plenty of land available for fodder crop for dairy animals."

The price payable for the land to be acquired by the Company is Rs. 200/- per bigha, which compares with the average price of Rs. 300/- to Rs. 350/- per bigha for good agricultural land in areas reasonably adjacent to Calcutta.

The total amount payable to the Vendor, Mr. Hemendranath Datta (of 34, Garcha 1st Lane, Calcutta), is Rs. 15,00,000, of which Rs. 10,00,000 is payable in cash and Rs. 5,00,000 in the form of fully paid-up Ordinary shares.

Directors residing out of Calcutta shall also be entitled to be paid their reasonable travelling and hotel and other expenses, if any, incurred in consecuence of their attending Board meetings and otherwise in the execution of their duty as Directors. If any Director, being willing, shall be called upon to perform extra services the Company shall remunerate such Director either by a fixed sum or by a percentage of profits. The Directors shall also receive a commission of 2½ per cent on the net yearly profits of the Company after deducting interest on debentures or other moneys borrowed and such sum as may be placed to depreciation, but before placing anything to reserve or other special account and before deducting the commission payable to the Managing Agents if any. The commission mentioned above shall be divided among the Directors equally. Such Directors as are also members of the Managing Agency firm shall not participate in the commission.

The Directors may decline to register any transfer of shares on which the Company has a lien. The Directors may refuse to register the transfer of partly paid-up shares without assigning any reason therefor.

(a) The holders of Preference shares shall be entitled to be paid out of the Profits which the Directors shall determine to distribute by way of dividend a fixed cumulative preferential dividend at the rate of 6 per cent per annum free of income-tax and to a quarter share of the surplus distributable profits of the Company of each year which shall remain after paying 6 per cent per annum free of income-tax on Preference shares and 16 per cent per annum free of income-tax on Ordinary shares. The holders of the Preference shares shall be entitled to a right on a winding up to be paid all arrears of the preferential dividend whether earned or declared or not down to the commencement of the winding up and also to be repaid the amount of capital paid up or credited as paid up on the Preference shares held by them in priority to any payment in respect of the Ordinary shares but shall not be entitled to any other rights in the profits or assets of the Company.

Subject to the foregoing provision, the Ordinary shares shall confer on the holders thereof the right to a dividend at the rate of 16 per cent per annum free of income-tax on the capital for the time being paid up thereon and also the right to three quarter share of the surplus profits of the Company of each year which shall remain after paying or providing for payment out of such profits of the dividends on the Preference shares and on Ordinary shares.

Appeal To Hindu Students

Mr. Vasant Kale, President of the Bombay Provincial Hindu Students' Federation, writes:—

Trio Recital

The Bombay Gramophone Society sponsored one of the best recitals that Bombay has had in recent times with a Stary-Mehta-Lester Trio on Monday evening at the Sunderabai Hall. We cannot but adversely comment on late comers who would like to enter while the recital is on, and prove a disturbing factor when they shuffle in between the movements.

Tschaikowsky's elegaic trio, A minor Opus 50, exhibited the matchless combines and balance of the three instruments. The emotional passages of the touching theme with true feeling that brought out the pathos, without any hint of sentimentality that can so easily creep in and incline it towards the ludicrous. A compliment must be paid to the cello, for keeping up the same standard through difficult passages as the violin and the piano.

The strength of Rachmaninoff's Trio Elegiaque, in contrast with the delicate nuances of Tschaikowsky's intimate feelings, gave the balanced variety necessary for the recital. With less design than Tschaikowsky, Rachmaninoff requires meticulous attention for perfect blending which the three artists attained with confidence; they deserve full credit for the very successful recital.

Phoenix Mills Godowns Raided

Several godowns of the Phoenix Mills were raided on Monday last by Mr Thakore, Provincial Textile Controller, accompanied by Mr. Mehta, Deputy Superintendent of Police and other Officers. In one godown 346 cases of unexmarked yarn were found. In another about 2,000 bags of cement were discovered and in a third godown about 1,000 tons of iron bars were found. All the godowns have been sealed pending further enquiries.

"Teachers Demand Minimum Dearness Allowance Of Rs. 18

The Dearness Allowance Committee appointed by the Bombay Teachers' Associations have unanimously decided that in view of the acute distress prevailing among secondary teachers on account of abnormal rise in the cost of living every teacher should get a dearness allowance of at least of Rs. 18 per month, as has been fixed by Government for its own employees. The Dearness Allowance Committee requests all school managements to give effect to this demand forthwith by paying Rs. 18 per month as minimum dearness allowance. The Committee supports the managements' demand that Government should bear at least one-third of the amount paid towards dearness allowance."

Bulgarian Armistice To Be Signed At Cairo

LONDON, Aug. 30: It is highly probable that Bulgarian Armistice will be signed in Cairo, it is reported here.

The Armistice will be negotiated by Lord Moyne, Minister of State in the Middle-east for Britain and by Minister Mcveagh for America.

The Bulgarian radio on Saturday night announced that the Bulgarian Government was making approaches to the Allies. Diplomatic reports in London at the same time indicated that the armistice terms were already on the way from the Allied Powers to Bulgaria and would reach the Bulgarian Government within a day or two.

This followed the Moscow Foreign Office announcement that the Bulgarian Government had announced a policy of neutrality in regard to Rumania and that Bulgaria was prepared to disarm the Germans remaining in Bulgaria.

Subsequently the Bulgarian radio stated that the Germans were in fact being disarmed.

Only a few hours ago the Bulgarian Home Service reported that Bulgarian troops were evacuating occupied territories—without indicating, however, whether these were in Greece or Yugoslavia.

Neutrality Unacceptable

MOSCOW:—Moscow radio denied tonight that Russia had accepted Bulgaria's declaration of neutrality.

The denial was in the form of an official statement and added: "The Soviet governing circles consider neutrality declared by the Bulgarian Government to be entirely insufficient in the circumstances of the existing situation."

The new Hungarian Prime Minister was Supreme Commander of the Hungarian troops on the eastern front.

It came into being after Admiral Horthy had been summoned to see Hitler and, it was reported, had refused to agree to various demands strengthening Germany's hand in Hungary.

"NEW YORK POST'S" PLEA FOR UNITY

Urges Release Of Congress Leaders

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.

Appealing for unity in India, the "New York Post" said editorialy today, there is no unity between the British Government and the Indian people. It added: "Yet everyone is agreed the new Viceroy Lord Wavell is the finest Britain has given India in years. He acted in the Bengal famine with great speed. He has started a long-needed programme to develop India's natural resources. He has encouraged the plan of some Indian industrialists to double India's income in 15 years. In doing these things he is attacking India's root problem—the poverty of her millions. Surely with such beginnings, unity can be brought about between the Indian people and the British Government. Is not this the time to release the imprisoned untried Congress party leaders, to hold elections, and to restore representative Government in the provinces? Unity will give us and the British two hands for the job. And we need both hands in the fight".—Reuter.

A THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Surely it is a characteristic trait of a great and liberal mind that it recognises humanity in all its forms and conditions.

—Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

The Bombay Chronicle

THE "GUARDIAN'S" APOLOGIA

The "Manchester Guardian" has winced a little under Mr. Rajagopalachari's mild but caustic criticism of its editorial on Gandhiji's offer. But it does not own its error nor does it seem to have taken any notice of Rajaji's constructive suggestion about wartime Government. It only remarks in a somewhat patronising manner that his criticism is "not to be taken too hardly" as it is only typical of the Indian political atmosphere of today and he is, after all, doing "great work" in trying to "secure a reconciliation in India." Rajaji will be more grateful if his work is helped by the British instead of being hindered and misrepresented. The "Guardian" is surprised at Rajaji's taking exception to its being "sceptical of the completeness of Mr. Gandhi's conversion from a Pacifist to a supporter of the war." There is misinterpretation again. Gandhiji is not converted. He himself remains as uncompromising a Pacifist as he ever was. But he knows what the "Guardian" knows, too, that the Congress has definitely and formally rejected his pacificism in the defence of the country and repeatedly offered to help war effort on fair conditions calculated only to intensify that effort. In brief the offer was that India would help as a free country and not as a slave. As the Working Committee members are still held prisoners he has taken it upon himself to interpret the August resolution and to advise the Congress even to moderate its conditions of assistance in view of the present altered circumstances. We can understand, though we cannot appreciate, the view that Britain no longer needs the intensive and nation-wide effort on Congress terms. But the "Guardian" has the hardihood practically to doubt the bona fides of Gandhiji himself when he offers to advise the Congress to act up to its promise if his moderated terms are accepted. That is a limit of perversity which leaves no room for further argument.

The "Guardian" is not satisfied with doubting the bona fides of Gandhiji. It is at great pains to show that there are all sorts of difficulties which make it impossible to transfer any responsibility to Indian nationalists during the war. Rajaji went so far as to suggest an interim Government formed "on a representative but composite basis securing representation for all groups and interests in just proportion and being made permanent and irremovable for the duration of the war." But even now the "Guardian" ignores the idea. Nay, it does not even suggest that Gandhiji's offer can at least be made the basis of negotiations between him and the Viceroy. However, in the belief that, though "Gandhiji's help we can hardly hope for", "personal contacts with others might secure the co-operation we desire", the "Guardian" cautiously suggests the release of the interned Congress leaders "as soon as the military situation renders it safe." And that, it adds, "may well be at a very early date, indeed, if not straightway." The release of the leaders, though belated, will be helpful to all, whatever may be the motives of Government behind the move.

Britain And Colonies

The Liberals of Great Britain would resent any accusation of being Tories in a characteristic disguise. They are liberal, egalitarian democrats believers in the brotherhood and rights of man. They dislike injustices as between man and man and nation and nation. But Imperialism, or rather British Imperialism, is quite a different thing. It is not an evil but a boon to humanity, particularly that part of humanity which has the good fortune of actually enjoying it. They too, "mean to hold what is ours." Hence the declaration of the National Liberal Party that "British sovereignty in the colonies should remain unimpaired" and that it "rejects the suggestion that they should be put under international administration". In the name of liberalism, what right has Britain to "sovereignty" over other peoples and their land? In the name of Internationalism and all the high principles of human rights and justice for which the British profess to be fighting this war, why object to the poor and unfortunate peoples of the colonies having the protection of International Administration against the proved evils of irresponsible unsympathetic national "sovereignty" of an individual country over them? One need no more than refer to Parliamentary proceedings for proof of how the "natives" have been exploited and are going to be exploited. How in the interests of an infinitesimal minority they are being kept backward economically, educationally and politically, in a state, in fact, of virtual slavery. If it is not to perpetuate their present miserable condition why object to the dissolution of British "sovereignty"?

FRANKLY SPEAKING

A Polish Declaration

The Poles, at least the Moscow supported party, have decided that East Prussia is theirs, that Germans are a minority in it and that they will not be allowed to live there. This sounds like the post-World War I Saar deal with a vengeance. The French could not oppose a plebiscite and the plebiscite went against them as was natural and just. The Poles have brushed aside the principle itself of a plebiscite as altogether irrelevant in the face of their own final award. It is an attractive solution of a self-created problem: the Russians will take care of the German "minority" and to the bottom of the Baltic with the Atlantic Charter. We do not know if the Lublin Poles will succeed in their designs. But if this is the pattern for solving Europe's difficulties, then heaven help the peace of Europe.

Danger Ahead

Meanwhile the conflict among Poles themselves continues, and appears now to be in danger of involving the big Powers, too, directly. Lublin makes much of having offered the Premiership to M. Mikolajczyk. But the method and conditions presumably involved desertion by M. Mikolajczyk of the emigre Government in London and its repudiation. He naturally could not accept it. This is not to say that the responsibility for the continuation of the deadlock rests entirely or mainly with Lublin. The reactionary inclinations of the London Poles are equally, perhaps, more, to blame. M. Mikolajczyk is, however, reported to be making another effort to heal the differences between the two factions. And we hope he succeeds soon. For a new and serious factor is beginning to raise its head. The criticism by the Lublin spokesman of the attitude of the American and British Ambassadors in Moscow openly suggests the Polish Liberation Committee's annoyance with them. On the other hand, the American and Britain Governments have pointedly declared their recognition of Polish patriots fighting inside Warsaw, the people who, it will be recalled, were publicly repudiated the other day by Moscow. Unless, therefore, Mikolajczyk's efforts succeed soon, the deadlock between the Poles may turn into a serious deadlock between the Big Powers.

Wanted Information

An official advertisement on rations states that "the ration quantum of food-grains in all the urban areas under rationing is either the same as or approximately equivalent to the Bombay scale of rations which is one paylee (cut measure) per adult per week." But we understand that in the town of Bhivandi, the capital of a taluka which produces large quantities of rice, the ration of rice, the staple food of the people, is only half of that allowed in Bombay city. If our information is not correct, it may be corrected by the authorities concerned. If it is correct, an explanation is certainly called for.

More Colleges

It is good news that attempts are being made to start five new Arts colleges in the province, including one at Poona exclusively for girls, and to add a Science section to three existing Arts colleges. We hope the attempts will be soon successful and that the University will not be too strict in granting recognition to the new projects. More colleges are urgently necessary in the different divisions of the province to check the huge influx of students into Bombay city far beyond the capacity of its colleges to accommodate them. It is to be hoped, however, that the new Arts colleges will soon be able to add a Science section to them at least up to the Intermediate standard. Else many students may have to forego a science course even though they have an aptitude or liking for it.

Surat And Broach Districts Badly Hit

Need For Immediate Relief Of Flood Victims

SURAT, August 30: Reliable figures available show that while Ahmedabad and Kaira districts have suffered the least, Surat and Broach districts have been badly affected by the excessive rains and the recent floods this year. In Kaira, 50 per cent of the bajri-growing area, 30 per cent of the Kodra and Baota acreage, and 20 per cent of the groundnut area have been affected. It is stated that Bajri can be re-sown even now.

In Ahmedabad District, about 40 per cent of the Bajri crop sown early in the year has suffered. Sixty per cent of the Jowar, 50 per cent of the cotton crop and 20 per cent of the groundnut crop has also been affected. Paddy is doing fairly well. Due to waterlogging and excessive rain, 60 per cent of the maize crop has suffered. Sholapur Jowar seed is being imported for sowing in Kaira and Ahmedabad districts.

In Broach District owing to the unsuitability of sowing conditions, one-fourth of the cotton area remained unsown. Twenty-five per cent of the area sown has been affected. Bajri crop is standing, but the normal yield cannot be expected. In the Panchmahals, which is mainly a maize-growing area, 75 per cent of the crop has been affected. Paddy and inferior millets have also suffered to a certain extent.

In Surat District, since July 2, the rains were continuous and as a result about 30 per cent of the lands remained uncultivated. About 65 per cent of the Jowar crop sown has been affected by the rains and floods. A thousand acres of the vegetable-growing area received serious damage. The paddy crop got more water than necessary, but it is stated that the application of groundnut cake will enable the cultivators to get a fairly good yield. While the Khariff crops of Jowar, Bajri and pulses have suffered heavily, according to the authorities, Jowar can be resown even now and the yield will be normal.

In Surat District, the Agricultural Authorities have arranged for a free service of Engineering Department personnel for repairing damaged oil engines of agriculturists. Good seeds will be made available in all Government depots in the Talukas. Manure and groundnut cake are being distributed at concession rates.

NATAL INDIAN CONGRESS CLEARS MISUNDERSTANDING

Issue Of Acquisition Of Residential Property By Indians In South Africa

(From Our Correspondent)

DURBAN, August 30.

The Natal Indian Congress has issued the following:

"Misrepresentations of the Pretoria Agreement and Occupation Control Ordinance have created entirely false impression of actions on Natal Leaders. It is important for India to know the facts.

"The Pretoria Agreement deals with factual situation of dislike of Europeans living in juxtaposition with Indians. To meet this the Pretoria Agreement was drawn up to provide machinery for control of occupation of dwellings in individual cases where change in racial character of tenant was likely to cause racial friction. No new principle has been established nor is Congress diverted from the implacable opposition to segregation or zoning.

WHAT ORDINANCE DOES

"The Ordinance deals with individual cases, as they arise when change of occupancy occurs.

"Proof of continued opposition to segregation lies in the Congress's evidence before the Post-war Reconstruction Commission an evidence which led to accusation of Congress's bad faith.

"Europeans were misled to believe that the Ordinance was acquiescing in residential segregation, which was never the case. Before the Select Committee, European bodies including the Durban City Council, Natal Municipal Association and others demanded inclusion in the ordinance of control of Indian acquisition of property for industrial, commercial, agricultural and investment purposes.

The Congress vigorously opposed these demands through their counsel, Mr. D. E. Molteno, M.P.

"As a result of misrepresentation of the true nature of the Ordinance, the Congress is now accused of bad faith by Europeans who falsely insist that the Pretoria Agreement envisaged residential segregation. In this way some Europeans desire to throw responsibility of ridding themselves of the Agreement and Ordinance by blaming the Congress for bad faith. This is contrary to truth, for at no time has the Congress conceded residential segregation or diverted from its implacable opposition to it.

"It is urgently imperative that friends in India should appreciate this strong stand, that the Congress continues to uphold the principles laid down long ago. Every opportunity is being taken to create disunity among Indians and to place Natal Congress in a false position to the friends in India.

"India should suspect all reports that seek to give false interpretation of Natal Congress's action in order to disrupt unity.

POSITION CLARIFIED

(1) "Overtures in March to Prime Minister laid down, that the only objection to Indians was individual residential juxtaposition.

(2) "Pretoria Agreement reiterated this and proposed machinery for control of individual cases as they arose. It emphasised Indian opposition to segregation, and the need for immediate housing provisions. Indeed its sole object was to avoid further restrictions or extension of the Pegging Act. Gen. Smuts reiterated that residential juxtaposition was the only cause of complaint, when he met European bodies in our presence in Durban.

(3) "Europeans falsely assumed that the Ordinance intended large-scale segregation.

(4) "European bodies, including the Durban City Council and the Natal Municipal Association, demanded control of Indian property acquisition.

(5) "Press reports to India on those lines have persuaded some friends in India that the Natal Indian Congress has conceded the principle of segregation.

"The Natal Indian Congress hopes that its emphatic denial will dispel fears in India now and that policies have been adopted."

Glowing Tributes To Horniman

GOLDEN JUBILEE OF HIS JOURNALISTIC CAREER CELEBRATED

The spacious lounge of the Taj Mahal Hotel was packed to capacity on Wednesday evening, when a reception was given by the Progressive Group, to felicitate Mr. B. G. Horniman, Editor of the "Bombay Sentinel" on the occasion of his golden jubilee as a journalist. There was a large and distinguished gathering. Among those present were Mr. J. R. D. Tata, Sir Homi Mody, Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai, Sir Francis Low, Sir Rustom Masani, Sir S. D. Saklatwalla, Mr. S. A. Brelvi and Mr. N. M. Joshi.

Eloquent tributes were paid by several speakers to the signal services rendered by Mr. B. G. Horniman to the cause of Indian nationalism and journalism. Mr. Bhulabhai Desai hoped that Mr. Horniman would live to write a special article in his inimitable style on the liberation of India, when the day of freedom dawned.

Mr. Tanubhai Desai, presided.

Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai, recounted his association with Mr. Horniman, which he considered the longest which any one in this country had.

Mr. Horniman's eventful life since the day he stepped on the shores of India marked the growth of the political life of the country.

He referred to the days when in the Home Rule League, Mr. Jinnah and himself were intimately connected with Mr. Horniman.

Keeping himself within the limitations of law, he had the rare gift to express things in the most forcible manner.

Sir Homi Mody, in a speech replete with humour disputed unequivocally Mr. Bhulabhai Desai's claim that he knew Mr. Horniman the longest. In fact, the speaker knew him earlier. At the time when Mr. Horniman came to Bombay, Mr. Bhulabhai was busy making rapid strides towards reaching front rank in the legal profession, and had no time either for politics or Mr. Horniman. Sir Francis Low, was learning journalism on a stool, Mr. Brelvi was learning to be a nationalist in a Muslim school and Mr. N. M. Joshi, the Labour leader was trying to establish friendly relations with the capitalists.

He was ashamed to state that even now knowing him so long, he did not know Mr. Horniman's precise nationality.

Sir Homi stated that he had contributed special articles to the "Chronicle" at Mr. Horniman's request, and he used to get occasional pats from the paper, but the political currents had swept Mr. Horniman off his feet and consequently the speaker came under the lash. He, however, still retained admiration and regard for Mr. Horniman. Overnight under the able editorship of Mr. Horniman, the "Chronicle" achieved front rank in Indian journalism and he brought to it a brilliant terseness and vigour in expression which made the paper a terror to Government and the Moderates. Mr. Horniman was different to the traditional conception of an Editor. Immaculately dressed, almost a dandy, he was highly sociable and could be found at every gathering and meeting. He had, however, one fault—he was suffering from chronic indiscretion and the Government thought that a change of climate was called for and sent him to England. (Laughter).

Even now at this age he was wielding as vigorous a pen as ever.

Sir Francis Low said that he would confine himself to the qualities of Mr. Horniman as a journalist, and it was necessary that the background which produced a man like Mr. Horniman must be known for a true appreciation of his qualities. The speaker and Mr. Horniman were trained in the same school of journalism. In every journalists life, there was a perpetual struggle against the encroachment of Government. Freedom of the Press was no more or no less than fighting for the liberties of the individual.

Mr. Horniman never lost the capacity of fighting for the rights of the common man and uncompromisingly carried on his fight.

He then added: "I am all for compromise, Mr. Brelvi is in my camp, but there is no compromise with Mr. Horniman, none whatever." When the popular ministries came into existence, he thought that Mr. Horniman would not indulge in day to day assaults, but there was no more uncompromising critic of the Congress Governments than Mr. Horniman. That is why he had a very great admiration for Mr. Horniman who had become an institution in Bombay. This institution "I hope will last for another fifty years" said Sir Francis in conclusion.

Mr. S. A. Brelvi observed that it was a special privilege and pleasure for him to pay tribute to Mr. Horniman as he was his 'guru' in the profession. He had his training under the able guidance of Mr. Horniman. Journalism, he said, was an exacting profession and Mr. Horniman deserved to be congratulated on the completion of his fifty years. Not only had he completed fifty years, but even at this age, he worked as a young man.

Mr. Brelvi expressed his fervent hope that Mr. Horniman might be spared for a long time more.

He referred to the great work Mr. Horniman had done as a fearless journalist. As a fighter, and above all as a friend of the poor and the underdog, one could not praise his work too highly.

He was the doyen of journalists and his work was an inspiration to all journalists.

The speaker referred to his historic deportation and the various occasions when Mr. Horniman had figured prominently in courts. "But I don't know of any case in which has been defeated", he added. In the recent Allahabad contempt case for instance, he had shown what legal acumen he possessed. If instead of being a journalist he had been a lawyer, he would have been as great a success said Mr. Brelvi.

As a foreigner who had adopted this country and his services were unforgettable. His ruling passion in life was to expose injustice.

Mr. N. M. Joshi remarked that Mr. Horniman's long career as a journalist had been nothing but progressive. He had proved himself stronger than the Government and the anti-social forces in the country. For the labour movement Mr. Horniman had always given support and publicity when other papers refused and when Mr. Horniman took up a cause, he hammered it till everybody took notice. In honouring Mr. Horniman they were only doing their duty and Bombay and the whole of India had to be grateful to Mr. Horniman's signal services.

Prof. Nirmal Kumar Gupta of Dacca, stated that Mr. Horniman was the best journalist East of Suez.

Collection boxes then went round and there was a good response to the "Horniman Golden Jubilee Fund" from the audience.

Mr. B G. Horniman, in giving the 'coup de grace' to the function, dwelt at length on his varied experiences in journalism.

He felt highly moved by the speeches made by the distinguished speakers.

Speaking in a reminiscent mood, he stated that fifty years in journalism was a very long time. So many things were packed in that long and eventful period, that it was impossible for him to indulge in a review of that long space of time. He expressed his great appreciation of the many encomiums paid to him as a journalist, and felt particularly gratified by the tributes paid by Sir Francis Low and Mr. Brelvi, because they spoke as journalists. He valued their opinions all the more, as journalists did not generally appreciate the work of other journalists and the tributes of Sir Francis coming as they did from a rival journalist who had to stand his daily ragging and ridicule were particularly welcome. He humourously added. "I begin to feel that I would not be writing about 'Old Ma' again."

Replying to the remarks made about his nationality he said: "I am proud to say I am an out and out Englishman, although I must admit to a certain quantity of Scotch blood in me". He believed that certain qualities he possessed were due to the fact that certain ancestors of his were Quakers who followed three or four hundred years back the doctribute of truth and non-violence preached by Mahatma Gandhi. His grandfather was, however, an executionand joined the Navy. Personally, he valued his pugnacity more than his non-violence.

It was his firm belief and conviction that the great achievement of Indian freedom would be brought about soon and added: "I shall see the freedom of the country achieved before I die." He had, he said, fought for the cause of Indian freedom for about 30 years and would go on fighting till the end of his life.

RATIONING CREATES NEW PROBLEM

Bad Quality Of "Atta" Held Responsible For Diarrhoea

(From Our Correspondent)

ALLAHABAD, Aug. 30.

Rationing has created a new problem at Allahabad, viz., cases of diarrhea or mild type of cholera this opinion was expressed by Dr. S. N. Basu, Secretary, Medical Association Allahabad, who says that the poor quality of Atta, (flour) which is being distributed in Allahabad is responsible for such cases. Dr. Beharilal, Municipal Health Officer, has taken a sample of the Atta for examination.

At a meeting of the Cannington Area Food Committee a resolution was passed which stated that the members of the Committee having seen some of the samples of the grain supplied by Government controlled shops are of opinion that the quality of grain supplied is very poor and in some cases unfit for human consumption.

Members of the Committee present at the meeting included Hon. Mr. Justice Mullick, W. Gawke, E. V. David and Captain K. O. Carleton.

WITHOUT COMMENT

"He, however, warned them (Gandhiji and Mr. Jinnah) that any agreement, to be lasting should be tripartite—Hindus, Muslims and Depressed classes to be parties to it. He was glad that the Viceroy had emphasised that a tripartite compromise was necessary and hoped that the British Government also was of the same mind".

The Liberals of Great Britain have decided that "British Sovereignty over the Colonies should remain unimpaired".

Quite right. It would be too bad for them and would be a denial of the post-war spirit if the colonies were deprived of the boon, privilege and human right of being held by the British as what is their own.

The Three Power representatives at Dumbarton Oaks have provisionally planned a Council of the Big Four along with a few others to guard and maintain world peace.

We provisionally approve of the plan with the additional and very necessary suggestion that they should have another small body charged with the duty of guarding and maintaining peace among the Big Ones.

The main organisation will be "an assembly consisting of representatives of all peace-loving nations based on the principle of sovereign equality."

The danger is both evident and real, the danger from so much and multitudinous rivalry to the affections of the loved one.

Total love for peace may lead to as terrific results as total war for peace

And why not? If the Atlantic Charter can be buried in the Indian Ocean, why not in the Baltic, too?

As a matter of fact the old man embarked for his unknown destination in June 1940.

He has now reached it.

DISAPPOINTMENT OVER INTERIM DIVIDEND

BOMBAY, August 30.

The declaration of an ad-Interim dividend of Rs. 25|- against Rs. 35|- last year, created a feeling of disappointment among dealers in the local share Bazar. A mill like Dyeing to lower the dividend at this rate, damped general feeling and there was more inclination to sell on rallies with encouraging war news. The constructive factor at the moment is abundant supply of cheap money and it remains to be seen how this reacts on the market.

The Board of the East India Cotton Association is meeting on Thursday to decide finally the question of opening of trading in new crop months. It is understood that one constructive clause is likely to be removed from the Hedge Contract. The Bullion market was quiet and the Produce market found increased selling in Linseed.

The local Share Bazar was quiet to-day with somewhat increased selling pressure in Cotton Mill Shares. It was rumoured that the dividend on Dyeings would be Rs 25 and this induced increased selling pressure. Tata Steel Dfds. opened at Rs. 2.122 and declined to Rs. 2,117 while Ordinary Shares were INCREASED SELLING IN NEW YORK COTTON MARKET.

New York, Aug. 29.

Opening gains extended on the continued effects of price-lifting influences and the overnight O. P. The Guaranty Trust Survey stating that cotton post-war problems were among the most important perplexing economic questions facing the nation attracted considerable attention. The session closed barely steady, at a decline of 16 to 22 points. Spot Cotton prices were reduced 18 points at 22.28c. per lb.

SCARCITY OF YARN

Bombay, Aug. 30

The local yarn market remained steady during the week and there was good demand. During the week scarcity of coarser counts of yarns was also experienced on account of the increased demand, while the scarcity for the medium and fine count yarns still continues, though some relaxation in the situation is expected on account of the stoppage of railway bookings of yarns of 2us and above qualities. In this connection the success of the experiment made by the Madras Government for yarn distribution will be watched by other Provinces with interest. A scheme of distribution is also under contemplation by the local yarn dealers and with the co-operation of the Government it is hoped that the problem of distribution will be soon solved for this Presidency also. An announcement regarding the quarterly revision of prices applicable from September 1st is expected shortly and it is believed that prices for higher counts of yarns will be revised upwards so as to make them more equitable and with a view to enable the mills to spin these yarns profitably and in larger quantities. The yarn market in Eastern India was steady and there is good demand from the districts: but yarns in sufficient quantities are not available. There is good demand in Northern India markets, but there are very few stocks and fresh yarns are not easily available on account of restrictions on railway bookings of certain yarns from the local market. Bookings were also not available during the week for these centres on account of breaches on the railway lines due to heavy floods. The South India market is steady and there is good demand from weavers and it is hoped that with the launching of the new scheme the difficulty of the Consumer of yarn will soon disappear. Under this scheme of distribution, it is reported, yarns have already reached some districts in the province.

The Beauty of Youth

Natural beauty of young and delicate skin needs regular cleansing with Pears Soap. The deep-penetrating lather of Pears lifts away all impurities that may blemish the skin. The glycerine in it keeps young skin soft and supple. And its famous tonic action closes the pores against dust and dirt, bringing new life and loveliness to the skin. Pears Soap leaves a lingering perfume that is sweet and refreshing.
